DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

As specified in the Office Action 04/26/2006, claim 16 was objected. The indicated allowability of claim 16 is withdrawn in view of the 35 U.S.C. § 101 and 35 U.S.C. § 112.

Rejections based on the 35 U.S.C. § 101 and 35 U.S.C. § 112 follow.

Claim Objections

Claim 16 is objected to because of the following informalities: the query execution plan at line 6 (the particular query execution plan is respectfully suggested). Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Claim 16 is directed to a computer-implemented method for accelerating data query processing. This claimed subject matter lacks a practical application of a judicial exception (law of nature, abstract idea, naturally occurring article/phenomenon) since it fails to produce a tangible result. Specifically, the claimed subject matter does not produce a tangible result because the claimed subject matter fails to produce a result that is limited to having real world value rather than a result that may be interpreted to be abstract in nature as, for example, a thought, a computation, or manipulated data. More specifically, if continued execution is not worthwhile, the steps of suspending query execution, re-optimizing the query, and restarting query execution with a re-optimized query plan remain in the abstract and, thus, fails to achieve the required status of having real world value. If continued execution is worthwhile as concluded, the method is stopped right after the step of concluding that continued execution is not worthwhile. The result provided by concluding that continued execution is not worthwhile also remains in the abstract and, thus, fails to achieve the required status of having real world value.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

As in claim 16, the claimed limitation, computing the difference between estimated optimization parameter values and actual optimization parameter values at a given checkpoint to determine the significance of parameter estimation errors, by¹ pushing the checkpoint below a materialization point for subsequent execution, was not described in the Specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

As in claim 16, the clause, the return operator at lines 12-13, references to other items in the claim. It is unclear what item is being referenced;

the clause, the check point at line 9, references to other items in the claim. It is unclear what item is being referenced;

the clause, the query at line 17, references to other items in the claim. It is unclear what item is being referenced.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 16 would be allowable if rewritten to comply with the 35 U.S.C. § 101 and 35 U.S.C. § 112, first and second paragraph, as indicated above.

Allowable Subject Matter

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The primary reason for the allowance of claim 16 is the step of compensating for returned row results by executing an anti join between the side table and a new result stream in combination with the other steps as recited, which is not found in the prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
